

THE JOURNEY

It started on a tiny island
The journey of a lifetime
Of a boy and his dreams
When he gazed at the horizon
Which had no end
And contemplated the future
On the other side

He saw the sacrifices of love ones
As they toil each day
To put him to school
His dreams to fulfill

He remembered the day
He left the tiny island
With tears in his eyes
Hearing the words of his love ones
Whispering in the wind
A guiding light
To his journey that has begun

Years have passed
He is now a man
He has found his dreams
And stands amongst men
But he still remembers that moment
When he gazed at the horizon
On that tiny island
Where his journey began
